ABOUT

Sasha Tigresa is an Indonesian-German DJ and electronic music producer whose sound lives at the intersection of rhythm, cultures and emotion.

Born in Indonesia and shaped by a life spent across Africa, Asia, Europe, North and Latin America, Sasha Tigresa draws inspiration from a world of contrasting cultures, rhythms and rituals.

Her musical identity weaves together her Indonesian heritage and folk music, the movement of Afro-Latin rhythms, and the raw energy of underground electronic music.

Her relationship with rhythm began at the age of six, when she started playing Arabic percussions, including riqq and tabla, long before stepping into electronic music production and beginning her DJ career in 2021.

Dubbed “the newcomer to watch for” by @cultureofhouse, she established her sound across international electronic music scenes. Her edit of “Feel” (Abra Remix) by &ME gained hundreds of thousands of downloads, bringing her music to dance floors around the world.

Since then, she has been booked by renowned clubs, venues, brands and promoters, including Pacha, Nike, SLS, and Culture of House, while attracting the attention and support of artists across the afro house and tribal melodic electronic music spectrum, including Pablo Fierro, Floyd Lavine, Thee Suka, Idd Aziz, Rancido, Collé, and many others.

Her sets move fluidly through Afro House, electronic, percussive and atmospheric sounds, treating genre less as a boundary and more as a language.

For Sasha, music is ultimately about intimacy. A DJ set is not simply a sequence of tracks, but a conversation between artist, rhythm and the dancefloor.
